

Eva Grayzel, a nationally recognized Master Storyteller and expert on interactive storytelling techniques with 25 years' experience, brings new business strategies to life through the power of story. While working in education, Eva developed unique storytelling skills to enhance learning. A late-stage oral cancer diagnosis almost stole her ability to return to the work she loved. Regaining her articulation and deep vibrant voice, she transitioned to speaking in the healthcare industry about her cancer journey. She crafted her survival story in a compelling way which attracted companies to request programs on developing their own stories. Eva is a published author and founder of the Six-Step Screening™ oral cancer awareness campaign.

"I can add Eva Grayzel to my Mount Rushmore of speakers who have had an incredible impact on my life and work."
